

GearJunkie.com

May 15, 2012

'Split-Boards and Sombreros' A Spring Ascent of Mt. Shasta

Featuring: Kode

Monthly Traffic: 64,400

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/7l4mk2a>

'Split-Boards and Sombreros' A Spring Ascent of Mt. Shasta

On a spring ascent of Mount Shasta last week, a crew of GearJunkie editors and product testers scaled the 14,179-foot stratovolcano on a Peaks for Peace charity climb. Some serious product testing took place along the way, including a look at new packs, skis, a split-board, and a few "technical" sombreros to block the sun. Oh, and don't miss the acro-yoga session on the summit ridge, where our YogaSlackers friends boost into a few crazy poses with their crampons still on!

"Osprey ski mountaineering packs"

