SMALLER IS BETTER » When skiing with kids, less is more. That's why we like the new compact Osprey Farpoint 40 (-liter) backpack ($150). The dual front mesh pockets, small zip stow, and main compartment provide enough room for snacks, spare fleece layers, water bottles, and a few other essentials without the unneeded heft of its bigger backcountry brothers, the Farpoint 55 and 70. The 40 is carry-on compliant and converts to a handle bag, so kids can shoulder their in-flight goodies on the way home. osprey.com
