

Liftopia.com – The Blog

January 7, 2014

Snow Gear for Women That Rock

Featuring: Reverb 10

Monthly Traffic: 50,000

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/n5vl55z>

Snow Gear For Women That Rock

Whether tearing it up in the park, slicing through the trees or crushing the darn whole mountain, we gals deserve some seriously rockin' gear for all the sick stuff we plan on doing in 2014. Our Activejunky testers handed these ten pieces the best-in-class marks after hitting the slopes in Chile this past summer for our Winter Gear Guide. From warmth and comfort, to awesome technical styles, these picks will help you seriously kill it this season.

Osprey Reverb 10 Backpack

Keep all your slope essentials at your fingertips thanks to Osprey Reverb 10 Backpack. Low-profile enough to stay streamlined but with enough storage for extra layers, probes or goggles, the Reverb weighs in at less than 2 lbs., so, even with a board strapped to your back, you won't feel tied down.

