It's almost summer. Time to grab our gadgets and get out of town.

But how to protect our gear? Fortunately, there are plenty of options. Whether we're shopping for our own vacation or for a gift for mom, dad or grad, there's a piece of high-tech luggage out there to help us hit the road.

5. Grown-up backpacker

For former hikers now turned business travelers, there's the Osprey Contrail 28 ($340), a curved, sophisticated 75-liter roller with padded handles, a slew of special pockets and a lifetime guarantee. There's a top pocket for a camera or a phone and side and rear pockets for quick access to cables. And for that formal business meeting, there's a special "flight locker" organizer for suit and shoes. Best of all, the Contrail's sturdy internal aluminum frame with a raised base will keep your gear dry – even if you stand the bag in a puddle of water, which I freely admit I have done.
