

N+1.com

May 29, 2014

Featuring: Raptor 14 and Raven 14

Monthly Traffic: 126,300

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/obw5yds>

Osprey Packs Men's Raptor 14 Hydration Pack

Bonking sucks, especially when you can pinpoint the cause to running out of something you could have been carrying: water, food, or extra layers. The Osprey Raptor 14 hydration pack doesn't guarantee a bonk-free ride, but it promises plenty of space to carry everything you need for a long, fun day in the saddle.

With 14 liters of carrying capacity and a 3-liter hydration reservoir, the Raptor 14 sets you up for rides well over the three hour mark. The range of pockets and stash zones are tailored for easy access and smart organization.

Of course, the most critical element of any backpack is the fit. Multiple points of adjustability on the main straps, hips, and both upper and lower compression straps are highly adaptable and easy to change-up on the fly. The Osprey AirScape back panel and the BioStretch harness and hip belt combine for comfort, breathability, and ventilation in the sweat department. The women's specific version of the Raptor 14 is called the Raven 14.

$130 • BUY

