Osprey Raises the Bar for Ultralight Luggage with Updated and Expanded Ozone Series

Designed with the modern traveler in mind, Osprey's Ozone series redefined the ultralight travel category. For Fall 2015, Osprey raises the bar once again with increased durability of frame and bag, organizational changes for more efficient packing and new colors and styling. Additionally, the series has been expanded to include all new travel packs, perfect for big adventures to any destination.

"The Ozone Series continues to be the lightest, fully featured luggage on the market," said Cassie Tweed, Osprey Design Director. "This season we build on our experience in this space to deliver the next generation of luggage built for today's traveler – spontaneous, adventurous and efficient."

Updated Ozone Series – The updated Ozone Series features Osprey's HighRoad LT™ Chassis with ultralight and strong 6001 aluminum frame and base, injection molded high clearance ABS base with foot bar, large wheels with sealed bearings for a smooth roll and an extendible ergonomic 'T' Handle.

Updated Ozone Convertible – The Ozone Convertible series has a built-in suspension system for an easy carry option or it can be stowed quickly for rolling or baggage checks. The suspension features a padded backpanel, hipbelt and adjustable harness. For trips that don't require backpack style carry, the suspension can be removed for additional packing space. Detachable from the main compartment, the daypack can be removed and filled with the gear you need for the day.
