

Friday five-a-side: This week's new bike gear

Kit from SRAM, Birzman, Osprey, Castelli, CrankTip, Kitsbow and more

BikeRadar.com

February 27, 2015

Friday Five-A-Side: This Week's New Bike Gear

Featuring: Zealot 15

Monthly Traffic: 1,471,500

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/lay6fyx>

Osprey's Zealot 15 aims to meet the needs of enduro racers and bike park riders. The Zealot can carry body armor, a full-face helmet and has a separate zippered compartment on the bottom of the bag for tool storage — there's even a removable tool roll for trailside repairs.

The Zealot 15 now features a clamshell-style main compartment that opens wide to allow access to your essentials as well as to the hydration sleeve, so there's no need to remove the three-liter reservoir when it's time for a refuel.

The S/M size pack we have in for test has 13l of storage capacity, while the M/L version is slightly more voluminous at 15l.

US$150 / £60 / AU$95

www.ospreypacks.com

Osprey Zealot 15

