4. Osprey Raven Hydration Pack

The danger of heat-related illnesses is real. When Mom is out there sweating it out on the trail, she needs easy access to lots of water to stay hydrated. One of the best ways she can quench her thirst while on the move is with a hands-free hydration pack. The Raven from Osprey is a women's specific version of the company's Raptor collection, and features a separate mesh backpanel for air circulation, a 3 liter reservoir, a fast-loading hydration sleeve design, a designated spot to secure a helmet and a roll pouch that keeps necessary trailside tools accessible and orderly. MSRP: $110 (6L), $120 (10L), and $130 (14L).
