With Father's Day fast approaching many of you are no doubt still searching for the perfect gift to get dad this year. If he is the kind of man who typically carries a pocketknife or multitool with him wherever he goes, be sure to check out yesterday's article in which we shared our top picks for the best options in that category. But if he happens to be fully stocked up in blades and tools, perhaps he could use some new hiking or camping gear instead. Here are some suggestions for gifts that any outdoorsy dad is sure to love.

OSPREY ATMOS AG 65 BACKPACK

If your dad is long overdue for an upgrade to his backpack, than the new Osprey Atmos AG 65 will make the perfect gift. Whether he's heading on a backpacking trip along his favorite trail, or traveling to the far side of the planet, the Atmos 65 is sure to come in handy. This pack can carry a large load with ease, distributing the weight evenly to help keep the wearer as comfortable as possible. This hydration-ready Atmos also includes an adjustable suspension system, a variety of compression straps, and ample internal storage for all the gear dad could possibly need. It also comes with Osprey's legendary lifetime guarantee, which means if anything ever happens to the bag, they'll fix or replace it no questions asked. ($260)
