Q: What Are the Best Duffel Bags for Domestic Travel?

We love these workhorse bags because they're so damn useful

A: Duffels aren't the sexiest gear, but I always use one when traveling in the United States. They're easy to schlep off-road but classy enough to haul into a five-star hotel. Most are built to take an absolute beating. Here are my five favorites.

The U-shaped zipper on this bag splays the body wide open, providing easy access to nearly everything inside. The Transporter, like the No Matter What (above) has padding on the handles, which helps it sit comfortably on your shoulders when carried as a backpack. The spacious front-zip pocket, plus three more on the outside, keep everything from toiletries to dirty laundry tidy.
