

MindfulMama

Mindful-Mama.com

June 4, 2010

Dad Gratitude

Featuring: The Revo

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/2d59wv8>

Dad — there's nothing better than helping your little one celebrate him! Whether he's an outdoorsy kind of fellow, an eco-chic papa, or simply a one-of-a-kind, amazing father in his own way, there are plenty of ways a Mindful Mama can high-five her Mindful Daddy counterpart (while also encouraging priceless quality time between him and the kiddies). Read on:

Let's face it — men like gear.

If the dad in your life is anything like mine, he loves a good backpack. One for hiking, one for fly fishing, one for disc golf, and then there's always a need for the small simple one for back and forth to work. The Revo daypack by Osprey has a sleek design, and is perfect for the basic necessities. It has great storage potential and is made of 70 percent recycled materials. And, as always with Osprey, they stand behind their gear — forever. Talk about giving consumers confidence! ($49)

