Osprey has introduced two new commuter-style backpacks. Sharing a few of the convenience features of their recently introduced mountain bike packs, such as the LidLock helmet clip, they're visually pared down and streamlined for city use.

The Metron is the sleeker of the two and has a messenger bag inspired flap design. Beyond cycling, it's just as functional for students and sized for a great little airplane carry-on. Available in Black and Earth in two sizes: Metron 25 $139; Metron 35 $159.

The Momentum series is designed with the avid bicycle commuter in mind, but gets a mix of more riding-oriented features like internal pump and tool organization, U-Lock slot, etc.. Available in Bamboo and Carbide in two sizes: Momentum 26 at $129; Momentum 34 at $149.
