

OutdoorGearTV.com

February 16, 2011

Backpack Review – Episode 16

Featuring: Kode 30

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/4mz8bkh>

PROS – This was my favorite episode to date. I got to test this pack in the Wasatch Mountains of Utah. We hiked up Maybird Canyon to the base of Mt Pffierhorn. This pack performed great. It is very well made for backcountry day trips in the winter. I had my board strapped on the outside and it carried very good. Cool features include: Camel Back Insulation, Fleece Lined Goggle compartment, Helmet Net, Belt Pockets. The straps that carry your board are reinforced. All the zippers have bungee cord to be easily used with gloves.

CONS – I cannot find ANY!

VITAL SPECS

1800 Cubics (m)

Price - $139

Weight – 3.3 LBS

RATING – 8 Finger

Osprey KODE 30 put to the test

Hiking in the Wasach
MTS
in Utah

