

GearJunkie.com

September 17, 2013

'Future Bike Gear' at Interbike Show

Featuring: Rev Series

Monthly Traffic: 300,000

URL: <http://tinyurl.com/lfbtu3b>

'Future Bike Gear' At Interbike Show (GearJunkie has the scoop)

We're on the ground in Las Vegas this week for the annual cycling extravaganza that is Interbike. For now we're outside and in the sun, riding desert trails at the show's OutDoor Demo event (see image above) and scoping new gear. It all moves inside on Wednesday, when the trade show begins and the bike world bows down to new gear coming to market for 2014. Here are a dozen hot products we've come across so far.

Neo-Bike Packs — Osprey's Rev Series of lightweight hydration packs looks to be something different. The made-for-biking line uses a unique harness setup the brand touts "provides a fit that is more like a shirt than a traditional backpack." Media pockets give access to a touchscreen device through a TPU shield. They come to market in January for $110.

