Must-Have Cycling Gear

For the Trail: Osprey Escapist 30 Backpack

If you're the kind of cyclist who loves conquering long stretches of singletrack and carrying a hearty load of gear, the Escapist 30 hits the sweet spot. As our tester noted, it's not the lightest daypack on the market, but a variety of bike tool-specific pockets, a rain fly, a helmet attach system, and an overall durable construction work well, especially for long-haul city-to-trail riding and hut-to-hut trips.
